

Department of International Trade

The possession of international expertise, coping with the dynamics of the fast-paced world of international business and economy is one of key factors in national competitiveness. Therefore, the objective of our department is to prepare students for a career in international business and trade, not only in the business community, but also in public sector organizations. Students are required not only to take extensive course work in international business and economics, such as in international trade, international management, international finance, international marketing and international economics, but also to take multidisciplinary cognates, such as foreign language, computer languages, and business statistics
